

#1 In her room in Mussoorie, India, Stacey Scott transcribes her interviews with Tibetan children concerning their understanding of death.

#2 Tibetan refugee children learn the “chicken dance” from the Jen Holtz and Stacey Scott, who spent time with them in class.

#3 Ryan “Spike” Nelson, Stacey Scott, Jennifer Holtz, and Pam Maykut pose for a photo wearing traditional Tibetan chubas for the birthday celebration of His Holiness the Dalai Lama.

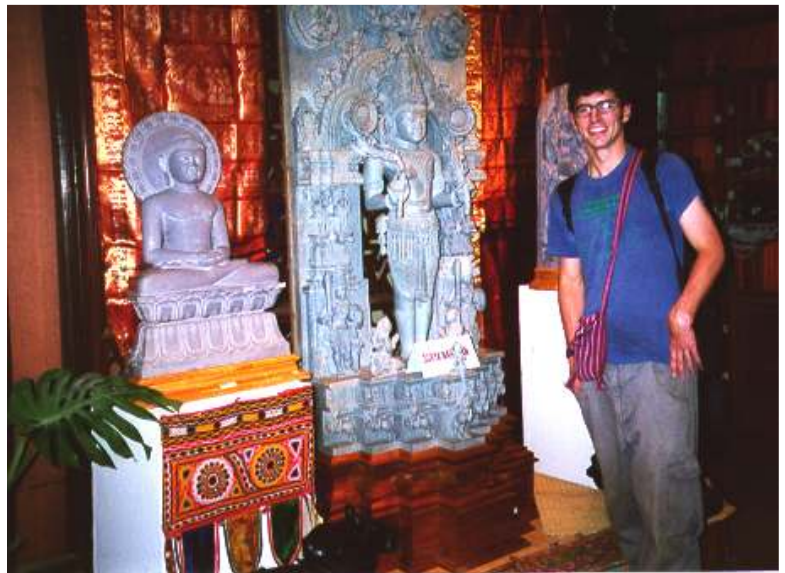

#4 Stacey Scott and her Tibetan interpreter, senior student Dolma Tsering.

#5 Stacey Scott and Jennifer Holtz with their Tibetan student interpreters, Dolma Tsering and Pema Yangchen.

#6 Ryan "Spike" Nelson and guide Divya Sinha share a monsoon moment after a wet ride in a motor rickshaw.

#7 Ryan "Spike" Nelson admires a few of the many beautiful sculptures of Buddhist deities see throughout northern India.